DAY OF FLUCTUATIONS IN THE COTTON MARKET.

CENSUS REPORT REGARDED AS BEARISH.

Strong Bull Buying Is Followed by Heavy Selling to Take Profits.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL New York, Oct. 27 .- The local cotton market had its periods of depression and firmness, with the market swayed by pessimistic and then optimistic reports concerning the political situation between England and Russia.

by several points, being influenced by the feeling of uncertainty regarding the foreign situation with reports that the Russian fleet had been doing more shooting san neet had been coing more shooting against noncombatants. But later a more sensible feeling obtained abroad, with a taking up of practically all of the early loss, and New York followed. Thus the local market railed from the low point, or 9.62c for Jan., to 9.76c, after which there was a sight falling off, but railed again to 9.80c.

The market sold off a little on the ginners' report issued by the Census Bureau. The afternoon was marked by a heavy demand from shorts to cover. There also seemed to be some strong bull buying. Then followed heavy selling, and prices broke about 10 points. Spot was 15 points lower at 9.50c for middling uplands.

PUBLIC HOLDING ALOOF. crat in its summary of the cotton situa-

"Yesterday's cotton market was quite broad enough to give the scalpers ample scalping room. With professional spinion on the gridron, the wise public is staying away from the rings and avoiding the dangerous pitfalls of a very erratic staying away from the rings and avoiding the dangerous pitfalls of a very erratic market.

"The war scare got in its work yesterday, both in the wheat market and the cotton market, sending the one up and the other down. But the real cause of the decline in the latter was the absence of general speculation and the absence of backbone in the spot market. Big-crop beliefs have taken too firm a hold on the minds of the talent for a bull movement to spring up just now as a check to bearish aggressiveness, and none may be looked for so long as the movement continues colossal and the price hugs the $1/20 mark. Below this figure the spinners then relves may be counted on to bull the market.

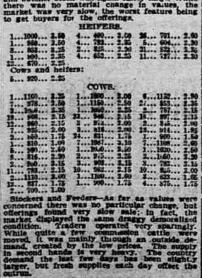

"With the war scare eliminated as a market feature, a steadler tone ought to follow. In any event, unless the little war equall develops into a storm, there is now no logical reason why the price level should be radically changed in the immediate future. For the moment the greatest danger to either site lies in the possibility that some wild vagary may send an already humansome market bounding off at a tangent. Neither fryme nor reason need block hor bolster such a course, for the talent now revels in the timist's philosophy."

HOGS—Another good liberal supply of hogs arrived, the receipts amounting to around 9,too head, which is the largest number that has been on saie any day for a coupie of ...eas, and still really good hogs were a little scarce, but there was plenty of pigs and lights on saie. The heavy run gave buyers the advantage again and they began by bidding lower. Trading was a little slow early, out when the market settled down the movement was lively with saies, as a rule, showing a loss of he all along the line. A few good medium weights with good packers next, but plain packers and mixet hogs, incuding od rough sows, sold extremely slow and irregular.

Orders for shippers were source, which made trading on the light, even the good ones, a little slower than usual, while the common light pigs, except the very best, and all green grassy trashy suff were about the slowest sale any time for several weeks. Very little change took place during the day, and a few common and medium hogs were held ove. SHELP—Another fair run of sneep arrived and while there was a pretty good representation of both sheep and immed still real good demand for good fat muston sheep and all on sale were guickly disposed of at steapy prices, but those that were only about half fat and only medium quality were a shade lower, while lambs showed considerable loss, lots of them selling fully be lower than on Wedneaday. The market opened with a good demand for good fat mutton sheep and all on sale were quickly disposed of at steady prices, but those that were only about half fat and only medium quality were a shade lower, while lambs showed consaderable loss, lots of them selling fully loc lower than on Wednesday. The poorer grades were practically unsalable at anything like satisfactory prices. No material change was noted on stockers.

HORSES—The present week in the horse and mile market has been a most remarkably active ona. The general total of arrivals has been greater than lany week this year, the aggregate for four days approximating 5,80 been greater than any week this year, the aggregate to four days approximating 5,80 been greater than any week this year, the aggregate to four days approximating 5,80 been greater than any week this year, the aggregate to four days approximating 5,80 been greater than any week this year, the aggregate to four days approximating 5,80 been greater than any week this year, the aggregate to four days approximating 6,80 bead, as compared with 7,691 head, which was the total for a full week during the week ending September II.

The hove receipts alone have amounted to the fruitive to the ground, and list Goody, who was standing near by destrable kinds. Plain, medium weight chunks are still slow and relatively low.

MULPS—The run of mules was the beaviest of the season, receipts for four days being around 1.500 head. The Southern demson was good, but not proportionately increased, and on account of the larger number of medium and plain inules, the market was weaker and lower. Good fat mules did not sell much off, but there was a loss of about $2.50 to $5 per head on other kinds. The movement was slow the earier days of the week, but at the decline consignments are moving pretty well, though no decided activity is shown.

Ira W. Gowdy May Die of Injury Inflicted After Bullet Passed Through Fugitive's Leg.

SNEAK THIEF TRIES TO ESCAPE

Music Teacher Shadows Suspect, Calling Upon Policeman to Arrest Him-Rare Coins Found.

A clever bit of detective work on the part of Robert Nelson, a vocal teacher at No. 3500 Bell avenue, yesterday shortly before noon resulted in the capture of a man who has been identified by the police as one of the most notorious sneak thieves

Patrolman Thomas White of the Eighth bring him to earth, and in so doing wounded Ira W. Gowdy of Brandt, O., a Hospital, where Gowdy was removed after stated that the patient's condition was precarious, and that blood-poisoning might who, Detective Lee Killian states, is none other than Robert P. Cannon, wanted in glaries, was shot through the right thigh. The bullet entered through the back of the cape, and, issuing from the front, struck Gowdy, who was standing at the southeast corner of Jefferson avenue and Olive streets, in the right hip, coursing downward, where it lodged.

The surgeons have not probed for the bullet, owing to the weak condition of the patient. The fact that the bullet passed through the other man's flesh and lodged in the body of the bystander is considered by the physicians as more likely to result in blood-poisoning. Gowdy was staying at No. 2806 Olive street.

ONE BULLET HITS TWO. The capture of the alleged crook is due o the fact that Mr. Nelson remembered the man's face. About a year ago, according to Mr. Nelson, the prisoner came to his conservatory in Bell avenue and inquired about a young man who had been one of Mr. Nelson's pupils. He was told that the pupil had discontinued his lessons some time before and that his present whereabouts were unknown to Mr. Nelson's The pupil had given the name of Floyd Harrison. Raynor then went away.

A short time afterward Detective Lee Killian went to Mr. Nelson's office and atated that one of his business cards had been found on the person of a crook in the East. It developed that the prisoner at that time was none other than his restwhile pupil. The officer then showed the vocal teacher Bertillon pictures which he identified as being likenesses of the two men. Killian admonished the teacher to point out either of them to the first officer. he man's face. About a year ago, ac to point out either of them to the first officer if he ever saw them again. Yesterday morning Nelson says he wa-walking in Washington avenue, when he pital, where he was searched. On his way to the hospital he attempted to throw away a medicine bottle and with it $10 in narked bills. When searched a choice collection of coins, foreign and domestic, was found in his pockets. He had a roll of money in bills, amounting to $300, of large denominations. Inside the roll was a number of old 10-cent "shinplasters."

IDENTIFIED AS A SNEAK THIEF. Raynor was removed to the City Hosto the hospital he attempted to throw

Some of the coins are rare American oleces, for which the Government offers a premium, and others are from Germany. Spain and Maxico. They are considered valuable. A beautiful gold-plated watch, with a Knights of Pythias charm attached and bearing the initials "F. S. B.," and a silk fob, were in his vest.

In his inside coat pocket the officers discovered a notebook, in which were plans of certain rooms, with the entrances and the exits and the furniture sketched. There is also a code stached to it.

Raynor would say nothing at the hospital beyond his name and the statement that he had been here but one day. He stated that he did not know where he got the coins and that it was his hobby to collect the relice. He could not explain the meaning of the initials on the watch fob. He would not give his residence nor explain the presence of $41.75 on his person.

The prisoner gives his age as 29, but looks fully ten years older. He gives inflications of being the victim of some drug habit. He is emaclated and speaks in an undertone. His whiskers are untrimmed and shaggy and his appearance is unkerner.

Chief Desmond's office, it is said, fully 'dentified the prisoner as a sneak thief yesterday afternoon. When arrested he gave the name of his pal, it is said. The police are investigating the case. They say that the man is known in most of the big cities as a clever thief.

No. 960.—Nothing looks quite so well on little folks as white, but as they grow older the lighter shades of blue, pink, tan and kreen make a pleasing change in their frocks. A dainty dress is illustrated here made of pale blue albatross with tucked blue chiffon for trimming.

4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years.

The closing is made invisibly at the center back.

A narrow frill of chiffon completes the neck, in place of the regulation collar. One-piece bishop sleeves have comfortable fullness on the shoulders and are quite wide at the wrist, where they are gathered and attached to wristbands.

Fancy ruffes that go over the shoulders are plain from yoke to belt, back and front, and full on the shoulders, providing the desired breadth to the figure and fullness at that point. If a plainer style is desired this trimming may be omitted as shown in the small illustration.

A full skirt is gathered at the top and attached to the lower edge of the body portion. The joining is concealed by a belt. A narrow ruffle is used to trim the skirt. Bands of embroidery trim the waist and skirt in an effective manner.

Dressee in this style may be made of soft woolen fabrics, silks, or sheer wash materials, with lace, ribbon or fancy braid for trimming.

DUKE OF ORLEANS TO VISIT FAIR.

Relative of Napoleon III Will Be Entertained by Exposition Officials.
The Duke of Orleans, who has been exarrive in the city to-day for a visit of a week or ten days at the World's Fair. The Duke desired to visit the Fair early this month, but it was impossible for him to secure suitable apartments, and he de-ferred his trip. After spending some time to secure suitable apartments, and he deferred his trip. After spending some time in this city, he will go to California to stay several weeks.

The Duke of Orleans is a direct descendant of the famous Bonaparte family of France, and is a relative of Napoleon III. He will be met at Union Station by the French Commission, the French Consul and other prominent Frenchmen. During his stay, many social honors will be extended to him by the officials of the Exposition and the French attaches.

A telegram was received from the Duke at Chicago yesterday, stating that he would arrive to-day, and apartments were reserved for him at the Washington Hotel. The Count and Countess Bagin de Vilsacs arrived in the city from New York last evening, and are at the Hotel Jefferson, where apartments had been reserved for them several days ago. The Count and Countess arrived in New York several days ago, coming direct from Paris to visit the World's Fair, and so timed their trip to St. Louis that they would meet the Duke de Orleans, who is due to arrive to-day.
